

Individuals and families that reside in the urban core continue to experience striking health disparities.

Our purpose is to connect hurting communities with knowledge and resources that can help them improve their lives.

Healing Our NEIGHBORHOODS

CCON Heals Neighborhoods

by attacking issues like HIV/AIDS, violence, and COVID-19. The health of Kansas Citians is very important to CCON.

We recruit, equip and mobilize members of the faith community and other strategic partners to offer resources in zip codes that need it the most.

Youth Development

The Helping Youth Plan for Excellence program (HYPE) helps reduce violence by providing safe spaces and ongoing emotional support. Teens are encouraged to become part of the solution through media and the performing arts in the newly developed HYPE Media Lab.

Youth learn to create rich and meaningful content using video, audio engineering and production.

Food Insecurity

When COVID 19 surfaced, CCON moved into action rallying over 80 community groups and hundreds of volunteers to provide nutritious meals, produce and personal protective equipment for youth and families in need.

This work continues today because families are still hurting and the need is great.

Health & Wellness

CCON partners with churches medical and academic organizations to address health inequities faced by low-income and socially disadvantaged groups.

The Calvary Community Wellness Center works to provide structured fitness opportunities for those who do not have the financial means to access fitness centers or gyms in the area.

Vision & Mission

CCON envisions communities in which disparities are eliminated and the inherent dignity of all residents is recognized.

CCON improves the length and quality of life of urban core Kansas City residents through ongoing innovative education, empowerment and partnerships.
